He says: "His entire family is connected with my church and his temperance sentiments are all that I could ask and that I think anyone else could reasonably require. I am thoroughly convinced that if Mr. Bosworth is elected that his position on temperance questions will be eminently satisfactory to the supporters of the temperance cause."

Public opinion has greatly changed in regard to the Czar. Before the war he was looked upon as a weak little figure head, dodging anarchists every time he went out of doors, and persecuting Jews and sending exiles to Siberia as a pastime. When war was declared Nicholas developed into a man. He issued a proclamation extending fair treatment to his Jewish subjects, by one order stopped the sale of liquor throughout his great Empire and is even now at the front in personal command of his army. The Czar is a bigger man than he was a year ago and next to the King of Belgium has risen more in public favor than any other monarch in Europe.

DUST EVIL ACTED ON

Citizens of Southside Appoint a Committee To Raise a Sprinkling Fund.

CANVASS ON THREE STREETS

Some Favored Oil But Majority Voted For Sprinkling By Contract.

A meeting of property owners on South Main and South Virginia Streets and Alumnae Avenue was held at the H. B. M. A. rooms Tuesday night to consider the dust problem. M. C. Forbes was made chairman and Archie Gant secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Forbes reported that a proposition had been made to sprinkle the streets named from Twelfth to the city limits as often as necessary to keep down the dust from April 15 to Nov. 1 for $1,105. A canvass of the district showed 165 houses and it was the sense of the meeting that the cost should be apportioned according to the residences and not according to the front foot, since the dust come from the street as a whole and from the crossings, as well as from each person's own frontage.

A vote was taken to decide between oil and water and most of the 20 or more present favored water and the selection was made unanimous.

On motion the following committee was named to canvass the territory and request each person affected to subscribe not exceeding $8, or a little more than $1 a month. In the event all bear their part, $7 will be enough. The committee is as follows:

M. C. Forbes, Chairman; J. T. Edmunds, E. C. Radford, Fred Jackson, R. E. Cooper, Geo. E. Gary, Oscar Hewell, W. M. Hancock, Dr. M. Brown, J. O. Cook, W. A. Radford, Clarence Morris, Geo. W. Collins, A. S. Gant, B. D. Hill and W. R. Stewart.

The money when subscribed is to be paid in advance and deposited in bank to be paid out monthly as services are rendered.

Charlie Taylor Sold 10,000 Pounds Which Averaged $10.50 Round.

The tobacco market got a big boost Tuesday both in receipts and prices.

R. E. Cooper & Co., the first house to sell, disposed of 38,050 pounds at the good round average of 8.33. Some of the sales were especially satisfactory. Wm. Sadler, of Todd county, sold a small crop at prices as high as $12.25, the crop of 2,130 pounds averaging more than 10 cents. Charlie Taylor, of Herndon, sold 10,000 pounds at $10.50 average.

Other sales were made at good stiff prices, the market showing decided strength on all grades.

Receipts are of course falling off as the season advances, and the loose floors do not sell every day as heretofore.

All of them held small sales yesterday.

The first meeting of the K. E. A. will be held Wednesday night at the First Christian church in honor of James Lane Allen, the Kentucky author.

About fifty trustees from this county are making their preparations to attend this meeting and at least fifty teachers have notified the County Supt. to make provision for them. It is hoped, also, that a large delegation of the city teachers will attend this meeting and will patronize this special train.

This will likely be the most successful and largest educational meeting ever held in Kentucky and it seems that Christian Co. will be well represented. The management has spared no efforts in making their arrangements and urges all who can, to attend this great educational meeting.

BURGLARS ROB STORE

Enter Business House of J. H. Anderson & Co. By Breaking a Window Fastening.

GOODS AND MONEY TAKEN.

Loss Amounts to at Least Seventy-five Dollars--Three Arrests Made.

The store of J. H. Anderson & Co. was burglarized Monday night. One of the windows on the Tenth street side of the building was forced open by breaking the catch. Then the side door was unlocked. The window was without bars and ingress was comparatively easy.

The thieves took out all of the cash drawers in search of money and secured $7 or $8 in change left in the drawers. Several grips, two overcoats, a man's suit, two boys' suits, some caps, collars and other articles were taken. The articles missed were worth about $100.

Sheriff Jewell Smith and Deputy Hammond went to work on the case Tuesday and by telephoning learned that two young men had been seen changing their clothes in the woods near Herndon. It was learned that they were Hebron Carden and Aubrey Mabry and upon their arrival in Lafayette later in the day they were arrested and held by Marshal Clardy. Sheriff Smith then went after them and much of the goods was recovered and Carden implicated Dennis Thomas, who was arrested in the city by officers Hawkins and Jones. The articles recovered were two suits of clothes, two overcoats—which the men had on—three traveling bags filled with shirts, collars, neckties, jewelry, socks, pocket-books, etc.

Carden says that two of them were in the store for two hours and the third man stood outside and watched for the police.

All three of the young men are in jail.

TEUTONS CHECK CZAR'S TROOPS

Two Passes in Carpathians Have Not Yet Fallen Before Russians.

SHORT ADVANCE ALLIES REST

"Dry" England May Result When Parliament Acts This Week.

London, April 13.—Two gateways into Hungary still remain barred, despite the tremendous Russian hammering, and as the Beskid pass is less important of the two strategically a further advance into Hungary hangs on the possession of the Uzsook pass, where the invaders are meeting with stubborn opposition.

Several days ago the Russians captured a position which gave them command of a road leading to the rear of Uzsook pass, but since then the Teutonic allies have checked the movement. The importance of the Carpathian operations is indicated by the half-hearted actions along the rest of the long eastern front.

The people of the dual monarchy are said to be greatly cheered by the number of German reinforcements passing through Budapest on the way to the Carpathian front to take part in the operations which are now believed to be in charge of the German general staff. The whole campaign in the east pivots on Uzsook pass, where the Austro-German forces are in such great strength that the efforts of the Russians to reach the Hungarian plains are likely to be prolonged.

In the west the French apparently are satisfied with their recent successes between the Meuse and the Lorraine frontier, and claim only to have come in contact with the German entanglements in this region. Official German reports assert that determined attacks by the French have been repulsed along this section.

A "dry" England, unknown except for a period of two years—150 years ago—is not beyond the possibilities, but the government has given no official hint as to what action may be expected.

"JITNEY" BUSES

Corporation to Conduct Business in This City.

Articles of incorporation of The Hopkinsville Auto Transfer Company were filed with the County Clerk yesterday. The incorporators are J. D. Thompson, W. R. Wheeler and Raymond Skerrett and the capital stock is $10,000, divided into 400 shares of $25 each.

The new corporation will operate a general transfer business, both property and person, by means of automobile, truck, carriage, wagon or other vehicle of any kind, said business to be conducted in Hopkinsville, and any other county in the state, if desired.

Jitneys In Paducah.

On account of the numerosity of Jitney taxis in Paducah the street car company is said to be suffering. The traffic on street cars has fallen off so rapidly since the inauguration of the Jitneys that some of the cars have been taken off as well as several motormen and conductors given a recess on account of the falling off of business. The streets are full of jitneys in Paducah and in fact so numerous that they are almost a nuisance. They are doing the business, however, as is shown by the havoc they are playing with the street car system.—Mayfield Messenger.

Kentucky in common with numerous other states, will have to wait long, at least in a number of instances, for action by the Treasury Department on the selection of sites for new public buildings. One of the reasons for this is that the supervising architect's office is far behind in its work, and with probably 300 projects pending, can only expedite the work of planning and erecting these buildings as much as possible.

Harry McChesney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, spoke at Louisville Monday. In his address he came out strongly for State-wide prohibition and favored the submission of an amendment to the people. He reviewed his own career, laid stress on the importance of good roads, discussed the public school system and scored the maintenance of lobbies at the Legislature. He also paid much attention to the tax question.

Heavy rainstorms Monday came in the nick of time to save the towns of Bauer and Whitley, Ky., from destruction by forest fires. At Bauer, a co-operative company sustained a heavy loss. Firefighters, hollow-eyed from loss of sleep, having made heroic efforts for two days to stop the flames, had dug trenches about the town but it seemed its destruction was inevitable until a violent rainstorm quenched the flames. The timber loss is very great.

Word to the Wise.

"Do you know, Bill, I nearly lost a sovereign today," said a Londoner to a friend of his the other day. "How was that?" "Well, you see, I went to call on a friend of my wife's, and he asked me to lend him a sovereign. 'Yes, certainly,' said I, and I brought out a sovereign, but it never got farther than my hand." "How was that?" "Well, you see, one of his daughters commenced to sing 'Kathleen Mavourneen.'" "Well, what has that got to do with lending a sovereign?" "Everything, Bill, for she started like this: 'It may be for years, or it may be for ever, so I popped the quid back in my pocket.'"—London Tit-Bits.

Garden of Eden.

The idea and imagery of a Garden of Eden, as the cradle of a race, came from the Sumerians, who had far more imagination than the Semites, as the early tablets prove. The Semites, who came from the northwest and traveled eastward, placed their Garden of Eden on the upper Euphrates, at the real cradle of their race, between Abah and Hitt, and upstream of the division into four branches in the plain.

TO FRIGHTEN DEVILS

Example of Superstition in Eighteenth Century.

When the Science of Medicine Was Emerging From a State of Ignorance Doctors Had to Adjust Selves to Circumstances.

The idea that a horse chestnut in your pocket will cure rheumatism or that the wearing of a red string on the finger will stop nose bleed, and many other foolish beliefs which still persist are part of our heritage from the days when what is now the science of medicine was only a curious mass of superstition.

For centuries mankind had little or no accurate knowledge of the nature of disease and its causes. Among all races, at some time or other, the beliefs prevailed that illness was the result of evil spirits and that a cure could be effected by frightening them away.

A good example of the long struggle which science had to make to overthrow suspicion is shown in the curious costume worn by French physicians in the early eighteenth century when treating sufferers from the plague.

The garb represents sound scientific knowledge in the protection it gives the body against infection, and is quite similar in this respect to that worn by physicians in plague-stricken districts today.

But the big, staring glass eyes and the huge artificial nose, which served no useful purpose, were survivals of the idea that disease was caused by evil spirits which could be frightened away if the physician's appearance was sufficiently terrifying.—New York American.

Made Queer Mistake.

A Pittsburgher who passed through Washington on his way to New York is wondering what kind of spellmeters of humanity blow into the national capital. He says he had taken a Pennsylvania avenue car going up town from the station, and he sat next to a mild-looking old gentleman who seemed to be wrestling with some secret sorrow. When the car turned the corner of Fifteenth street the shake-up brought the old fellow out of his reverie and he looked up to see the monument towering over the adjacent vicinity. "Pardon me," he said to the Pittsburgher, "may I ask what that lofty structure over there is?" "That's the monument," said the Steel City man, who spoke of it as Washingtonians do. "What monument?" Inquired the old gentleman. "The monument to Washington, of course." The old gentleman gazed at it abstractedly until it was hid from view. "That's the first time I ever heard of a town erecting a monument to itself," he said slowly and to nobody in particular.

Dignity.

War at last became very costly, so costly that the plain people who paid the bills were about to take upon themselves the responsibility of abolishing it.

But the politicians and others came forward with an expedient. "Let us," suggested these, "sell the moving picture rights."

"Wouldn't that be in derogation of the nation's dignity?" asked the plain people dubiously.

"Not at all. You don't quite understand about the nation's dignity. The nation's dignity is all right where you want to start something, but where it stands in the way of its own vindication it becomes very absurd," the politicians and others made haste to explain.

Endless Anticipation.

"It is well that the pleasures of anticipation mean much to us," remarked the Plunkville philosopher.

"For instance?"

"Now I love grand opera and whenever I see a grand opera company billed for Plunkville I anticipate its arrival with keen delight."

"Well?"

"But before the date scheduled the company usually husts."

FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

MINES IN THE AIR

American's Idea of Combating the Zeppelins.

Philadelphia Has Designed Project Which He Believes Will Be Effective If Air Raids Should Be Put Into Operation.

Picture a monster Zeppelin, as long as an ocean liner, laden with tons of death-dealing explosives, creeping through the murky mist of a winter night toward London. Picture, again, if you can, the skies turned to flame and the heavens shattered as the hundreds of thousands of cubic feet of hydrogen gas explodes, scattering the sinister craft in tiny pieces over the streets and house-tops of the city.

That is the graphic sketch of what is likely to occur if the Zeppelins attempt a serious raid on London, as given by Joseph A. Steinmetz of Philadelphia. Mr. Steinmetz is the originator of the first serious considered scheme of mining the air and the inventor of the trailing bombs for the destruction of dirigibles.

In a few words, the plan devised by Mr. Steinmetz is to install on all the buildings in a threatened area a large number of hydrogen balloons. They are held ready for instant use, and each is attached to a fine wire two miles long, wound on a windlass. The wire is so small that a mile of it weighs but four pounds, while it has a tensile strength of 120 pounds.

The Zeppelin, sighted by the lookout, would be permitted to proceed until almost over the objective point. Then, simultaneously, scores of the balloons, to each of which is attached a highly explosive, inflammable bomb, would be released.

Each bomb is surrounded with a ring of hair triggers, and the slightest touch would cause an explosion which would unquestionably ignite the gas in the dirigible. The plan is to send a certain number of the mines to a given altitude, while others will be anchored at different heights, thus allowing the Zeppelin no chance to escape.

The other method of destroying the German craft is along similar lines, but differs in that it is conducted through the use of aeroplanes. Each machine is equipped with bombs such as are used in the air mines. The trailing wire is wound on a spool, which can be operated by the pressure of the aviator's thumb and stopped at will.

The aeroplanes being swifter, would be sent against the dirigible in flocks of three or four. The aviators would depend on their speed and the great altitude to which they can ascend to keep out of range. At the proper time the bombs would be released on the wires and a dash made at the enemy.

In addition to the triggers, which can be locked until the bomb is ready for use, the bombs are fitted with sharp grappling hooks. As the wire is drawn across the big gas bag the hooks will catch and draw the triggers into contact with the envelope. The explosion will follow.

Basis for Exchange.

He had a drove of spirited steeds and paused to give them a much needed rest. The storekeeper came out and looked them over casually.

"Want a horse?"

"Guess not."

"I'll take it out in goods," said the stranger. "I'll take it out in tobacco in fact."

"Might do some business along those lines," responded the storekeeper, "if we kin agree on a basis."

"What's your basis?"

"Well, I'll trade with you, plug for plug."—Judge.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof. Groenover completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

BLUE OSTRICH TRIES TO DIE

Attempts Suicide With Piece of Hose Upon Landing at New York From Bermuda.

Mike, a fighting ostrich from the wilds of Africa, that found his way by hook or crook to Bermuda, attempted suicide or something like that by shooting himself in the right eye while despondent, after he was landed at New York from the steamship Oceana.

As Mike doesn't speak our language well, no one knows what gave him the "blues," but he knew immediately he was lowered over the Oceana's side that he was in a foreign clime that wouldn't in the least appeal to his heart.

So Mike, eight feet tall and as full of fight as a Kilkenny cat, spied a length of hose on the pier as he fell out of his crate. He pressed a claw on one end of the piece of hose and gripped the other end in his beak. Then, keeping the hose taut, he released his claw grip and the hose flew back and whacked him on the right optic. Mike saw his first attempt was futile, but before he could make a second attempt a gang of longshoremen pounced upon him.

Mike, even though he had as black an eye as an ostrich could have, went after the longshoremen in such fashion that most of them took to the rafters. Those who were not swift enough he clawed and pecked. Finally they got a gunny sack over Mike's head and subdued him.

A charge of attempted suicide was preferred against Mike and he was put back in the ship's hold to think anew on the sweetness of life.

Chinese Currency.

Currency in China has had all sorts of surprises for the layman, but the present situation is simply extraordinary. There is now found to be an actual plethora of dollars and small coins, and since last August the Chinese have been melting them and converting them into sycee. The reason why dollars are being melted is that large issues of the provincial mints have found no use in the market, and as all Chinese accounts are in taels the present price of the dollar is not very conducive to its existence and circulation.

Motorcycle on Wall.

Going at a speed of from seventy-five to eighty-five miles an hour a motorcyclist succeeded in driving his machine around the perpendicular wall at the top of a motordrome. This is a regular amusement park feat for motor cars, but is seldom attempted with a motorcycle, since the machine must be driven at terrific speed and must stand out almost horizontally from the wall. It is a good example of the power of centrifugal force, as well as of the skill and nerve of the rider.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Whenever You Need a General Tonic Take Grove's

The Old Standard Grove's Tasteless Tonic is equally valuable as a General Tonic because it contains the well known tonic properties of QUININE and IRON. It acts on the Liver, Drives out Malaria, Enriches the Blood and Builds up the Whole System. 50 cents.

War Darkness Helps Eyesight.

The wartime custom of darkening streets and houses wherever possible to avoid aeroplane attacks, however inconvenient, is having at least one good effect, according to London oculists, who maintain that the eyesight of the residents is being preserved. One writer claims that the darkness is having a decided effect from a social standpoint, and that singing and games are increasing in British homes just because of the contrasted coziness with the gloomy streets.

Popular Objections and How to Meet Them

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE, Superintendent of Men, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—When I have a more convenient season, I will call for thee.—Acts 24:25.

When a man says: "I have no time for religion," it means that he is not interested. He has all the time there is, and if he considered his salvation a matter of much importance, he would take time for it. He may be so crowded with business and home cares that he cannot attend meetings, but that need not prevent him from being a Christian. Our Roman Catholic friends, who belong almost wholly to the laboring class, and whose time is not their own, as a rule, are the most regular churchgoers in the community. The fact is that people find time for what they consider important.

I know a young man who wished to attend a certain series of meetings. The factory where he was employed was running evenings, and every man was expected to work overtime for a few weeks during the busy season, for which of course, they received extra pay. He was not a Christian, but he went to his employer and asked to be excused from working evenings for a week, and he also went without his supper each night in order to attend the services. Very soon he gave his heart to God, and before the end of the week he had the pleasure of seeing his brother converted.

Not the Real Reason.

When one offers the lack of time as an excuse for not being a Christian, it is well to show him by some simple illustration that this is not the real reason. Say to him, "If, in addition to your regular work, you had an opportunity to earn ten dollars each week by one hour of extra work, would you accept the offer?" He will doubtless answer, "I think I would."

"In other words, if you want time for something extra, you manage to find it. You see, my friend, the simple fact is that you do not feel the need of salvation, and you are not interested in it. You are in the condition described in Ephesians 4:18, 'Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardening of their heart.' Why not face the fact, disagreeable as it may be, and when people ask you why you are not a Christian, give them the real reason instead of offering a false one? And furthermore, it is well to remember that if you do not take time to consider this question of salvation, you will soon lose your capacity to know God, and will be in the condition described in the nineteenth verse of the same chapter, 'Who being past feeling,' gave themselves up to all manner of sin."

"I Will Think About It."

There are some minds which mature very slowly, and if one really has never considered what is involved in becoming a Christian, it may be well to give him a little time for reflection. As a rule, however, this excuse is only another way of saying, "Not now." We should show the person that already he has all the information he needs for an intelligent decision, and that if he waited a dozen years he would not be any better prepared, but on the contrary, he would be less disposed to decide than now.

There are only two things that he needs to know—that he is lost, and that Christ is the only Savior. These two things he knows already, and all that remains for him to do is to accept Christ as his Savior. Show him that continual thinking on the subject will not make the decision any easier, but continual rejection of Christ will surely make it harder. It is a great mistake for people to think that they can be saved when they please. The only time when a man can be saved is when God chooses to save him, and God's time is now; "Behold, now is the day of salvation."

No one has a right to say that he will think it over and decide when he is ready. God calls for immediate decision; he commands us to lay down the weapons of our rebellion, and surrender unconditionally. When Mr. Moody was holding meetings in Hartford, Conn., many years ago, he urged a man one night to accept Christ at once. Finally the man replied, "Well, Mr. Moody, I will promise you this: I will attend the meeting tomorrow night and I will accept Christ as my Savior then." That man never reached his home alive. The train on which he traveled ran off a bridge at Tariffville and many lost their lives, and among them was this man. "That experience," said Mr. Moody, "taught me a lesson, never to let any one off with a promise, but to press them hard for an immediate decision, and if that failed, to show them the peril of ever 'I might delay.'"

FACTOR IN MODERN WARFARE

Commanding Generals Could Not Handle Present Enormous Armies Without the Motor.

With millions of men drawn up in battle array at one end and the same time, to handle them effectively by old-time methods would have been impossible. Even before the present fronts were extended to their fullest degree in France alone, they were of a total declared to have attained a length of 300 miles, and one of 270 miles in the east—figures which not only convey some indication of the stupendous size of the engaging forces, but even more emphatically suggest the tremendous responsibilities of the commanders in chief.

Nevertheless, although they have to deal with millions instead of tens of thousands, the commanders concerned have never had their forces so completely under control; in every phase of the warfare, whether of transport, attack, defense or supply, the keynote of the operation has been effectiveness of the completest kind.

The motor, in short, has "speeded up" the war in a way that could never have been dreamed of by former generations. Never have the movements of troops been so rapid; for, instead of men having to wait for ammunition and food supplies, these have been conveyed by motor wagons which can travel, if need be, much faster than the armies themselves.—Charles L. Freeston in Scribner's Magazine.

Vogue of White Paint.

A clever decorator who remodeled the dining room in a New England farm house has even gone so far in her use of white paint as to finish the floors with it. The woodwork and furniture were also white, but plenty of color was introduced by bright chintz-patterned paper and plain bright green rugs. The white dining room table was always bare, which allowed the mistress to use many attractively colored dolly sets. Her china showed up to splendid advantage on this white ground, and the flowers from the garden seemed unusually bright and pretty in the midst of all this white. A country house near Cleveland has all its floors painted white, with bright green, blue and purple rugs used to carry out certain color schemes. Of course, using white on floors is practical only when you are far from the city's smoke or motor dust.—The Countryside Magazine.

And Build Up The System Take The Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking, as the formula is printed on every label, showing it is Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form. The Quinine drives out malaria, the Iron builds up the system. 50 cents

COLLECTOR DEFIES MAYOR

Henderson City Officials Says
Courts Must Oust Him.

Henderson, Ky., April 13;—G. T.
Berry, who was defeated for city tax collector by a ruling of Mayor Johnson's in declaring Sam S. Wathen elected when no quorum of the council was present, declares he will not recognize the mayor's ruling and will hold the office until ousted by the courts.

The city board of tax supervisors will complete their revision of the city assessment on Wednesday. The board will adjourn on that day until next Monday to hear complaints for three days. The city assessment last year was over $7,000,000, while this year it will fall off below that figure.

At the next regular meeting of the city council a tentative budget will be presented. The tax rate the past year was $1.65 on the hundred dollar valuation and it is believed it will be fixed at the same figure this year.

Rheumatism

Just put a few drops of Sloan's stops. It is really wonderful how quickly Sloan's acts. No need to rub it in—laid on lightly it penetrates to the bone and rheumatic pain instantly.

Mr. James B. Alexander, of North

in my back and hips brought on rheumatism in the sciatic nerve. I had it so bad one night when sitting in my chair, that I had to jump on my feet to get relief. I at once applied your Liniment minutes it was perfectly easy. I think it is the best of all Liniments I have

Not So Bad in America.
"I read in an American paper that well-heated cellars may be used for providing that luxury in January, ru-

"not by storing up the delicacy but by growing the plant. The forcing clumps are to be buried in a box or tub, covered with sand and watered

it is ascertained, the rhubarb, nicely

This information fills me with dread.
Rhubarb that comes in its natural

GEN. HUERTA ADMITTED TO THE UNITED STATES

Comes on Pleasure and Business—Not to Go to Mexico.

New York, April 12.—Gen. Victor-lana Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico, who for nearly a year has been an exile in Spain, arrived here to-day on the Ship Antonio Lopez from Cadiz. Gen. Huerta was passed by United States immigration officials as a transient alien after he had declared under oath that he would do nothing that would in any way involve the neutrality of the United States.

The former president said that he had come to the United States partly for pleasure and partly to attend to some personal business connected with family matters. He swore that he had no intention of going to Mexico or Cuba. The length of his stay, he said, was indefinite, but he would return to Spain, possibly sailing from New York early in May.

Caucasia.

In the southern section of Caucasia agriculture is the principal industry.
Wheat and other cereals, cotton and tobacco are produced. In Ciscaucasia cattle breeding is profitable, while in the mountainous districts mining is carried on extensively. The mineral deposits include copper, silver, iron and manganese ores, cobalt, sulphur, quicksilver, naphtha and rock salt. The country also produces a great deal of petroleum. Rugs, woolen goods and harness are made. Caucasia is governed by a general governor acting for the emperor and local zemstvos.

Forty tons of letters and parcels a day are sent to the British troops at the front.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney &
Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Dumb Man Cured By Joke.

Although doctors had failed in their efforts to restore his voice, Charles Kateza, of Allentown, Pa., can talk as the result of a humorous story told by City Engineer Abram Swan.

Kateza, an iron molder by trade,
was injured about a year ago in a Brooklyn plant. He temporarily lost his sight and hearing, and then became unable to talk. Some time ago he was taken to Mercer hospital for treatment. City Engineer Swan had been a patient there, and the other night they were sitting together, Swan doing the talking and Kateza
the listening. Swan told a funny story and Kateza smiled.

A little later Kateza went to bed,
and other patients, including County Detective George Freudennacher, were awakened by hearing him laugh. It appears that he dreamed of the joke and, upon being awakened he could talk.

AT LEAST SATISFIES HUNGER

Evening Meal Served on Japanese Street Would Not, However, Appeal to the Fastidious.

It was toward evening when a slovenly looking fellow with a traveling restaurant landed on the street corner, rang a little bell and announced to all that the evening repast was now in readiness, says a correspondent of the Christian Herald. Many of the poor people nowadays find it hard to buy a morsel of rice or even barley, and as a last resort turn to this "macaroni" restaurant, where they are able to get a meal for one or two cents. I wondered if this man got his supply from the manufacturer whom I saw kneading the dough on a straw mat with his feet, not a great distance away.

Dipping ball after ball of this "macaroni" into boiling water and again in succession into separate bowls, the vendor adds a sprinkling of cheap soy and green onion cuttings and sticking into them the crudest kind of chopsticks, presents them to his miscellaneous crowd of customers. Sturdy coolies leave their cart shafts, haggard women release loads of boxes and bundles from their backs, precocious children savoring in need of handkerchiefs and staggering under the heavy load of an often unwearied younger brother or sister, aged from two weeks to three or four years—all hollow-cheested on account of excessive toll and their constant stooping posture, with great rapidity bolt down this seething mess. The noisy gulplings and much gurgling and sucking in of the breath which so distress a Westerner may be excused by the fact that in their minds it only shows a polite appreciation of food.

SINGS IN THE FRENCH CAMPS

Minstrel Employed by the Ministry of War to Encourage the Soldiers at the Front.

The role that the minstrel Taillefer played at Hastings, that Roland took at Roncevaux and Blondel filled when he found the imprisoned Coeur de Lion in an Austrian castle, is being played in the present war by Theodore Botrel, the Breton poet, who has been sent to the fighting line by M. Millerand, the French minister of war, to sing and recite patriotic and warlike chansons to the French soldiers, to inspire them to mighty deeds. For the last two months or more the picturesque Breton singer, with his sleek hair, his wide hat brim, his flying ribbon and voluminous velvet breeches, looking for all the world like the painted figure in a piece of Breton pottery, has been traveling, staff in hand, from camp to camp, entertaining the fighting men of France with stirring ballads. Botrel's work smacks of ancient warfare and its customs more even than the breastplate, hand grenades and spears which have proved their value on several occasions. No one knew who thought of the plan, but, at any rate M. Millerand put it into effect, and Botrel has made a great impression upon the French soldiers. The soldiers are gathered together in a big hall, an impromptu and generally insecure platform is rigged up and Botrel stands forth to recite his songs, some in the Breton dialect, others in French, but all touched with the lyric flame that carries simple words and simple thoughts straight to the hearts of the hearers.

Signs Shot into Place.

A gun which shoots signs into place has been invented, which, in appearance, is not unlike a shotgun. The sign, which it discharges, is rolled tightly about a heavy stick and a cord is attached to a tack which is temporarily fastened, point out, at one end of this. The other end of the string is fastened to the top of the sign. When the instrument is loaded with one of these and the trigger pulled, heavy springs furnish the propelling force, which sends the roll endwise through the air like an arrow, at whatever object it is aimed. The tack imbeds itself, while the jar of the impact loosens the sign and makes it unroll, falling into place.

Old International Arbitration. Discussing 82 inscriptions which record settlements of disputes between the ancient Greeks and other nations, M. N. Tod finds a system of international arbitration that will compare favorably with the modern. Tribunals were appointed by spontaneous agreement, by the intervention of friendly powers or by compulsion, and made decisions often on grave questions, such as disputed territory. The use of arbitration began in the second century B. C., and the method was known also in Egypt and Babylonia. Sometimes it was refused and, as at present, it sometimes failed to effect a permanent settlement.

Out of Place.

Margaret Sullivan went into a police station yesterday, began reading the Bible to the lieutenant and was taken to Bellevue for observation or her sanity.—New York Item. Which recalls Bernard Shaw's account of the Frenchman who was caught saying his prayers in Westminster abbey, and thereupon charged before a magistrate with "brawling in the abbey."

HAS TREATMENT FOR TETANUS

German Scientist Tells How He Successfully Combated the Dread Malady.

A student in Professor von Behring's laboratory accidentally broke a flask of tetanus germs, fragments of the glass penetrating among the tendons of the palm of his hand. Von Behring describes in the Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift how he treated the case, which was about the most terrible wound a man could have, for millions upon millions of tetanus germs must have entered.

After antiseptic treatment an injection of antitoxin was made in the arm. The wound healed, but after four days lockjaw set in in the legs, shoulders, jaws and eyelids. The right arm pit was opened, the main nerve trunks isolated and infiltrated with the most powerful serum. The tetanus was at once checked; it soon vanished and it has not recurred, though four months have elapsed.

Von Behring says the poison of tetanus at once combines with the nerve endings in the muscles. It enters the blood, where it can be neutralized by injections of antitoxin. The only hope in a serious case like that of this student is to apply the serum directly to the main nerve trunks. The Medical Record comments that as Von Behring does not mention the dried antitoxin as a wound dressing nor the injection of the serum into the spine, he indicates a radical modification in the treatment.

Her Patriotic Desire.

An English country vicar and his family received a visit from a wealthy but extremely plain-looking spinster relative, who announced her intention of taking up her residence at the vicarage for the period of the war, giving her reason for leaving her own abode the existence of a large military camp in its vicinity. As she has always been intensely patriotic the vicar ventured to inquire what objection she had to the presence of the soldiers. "Well," she replied, primly, "I have read Lord Kitchener's letter to his men as to how they should treat women, and I have come to the conclusion that the best way to assist them in carrying out his advice is to remove temptation from their path as much as possible."—London Mail.

Sheep Shearing a Crime.

A jury of 12 men in Circuit Judge Davis' court at Portland, Ore., decided that shearing sheep in December and leaving them exposed to the rigors of winter weather is cruelty to animals. After being out four hours the jury returned a verdict upholding the decision of District Judge Jones in fining Lester Willard, a Troutdale sheepman, $100. Humane society officials handled the case, and it was they who caused the arrest of Willard on December 19. Willard's defense was that the shearing rid the sheep of ticks with which they had been troubled. It was alleged that a number of the sheep died of exposure.

WHEN LOST IN THE WOODS

Hope of Rescue Lies in Keeping One's Head and Putting Up Signals of Distress.

In Farm and Fireside a contributor reports some things he has learned from Indians. If you have occasion to do much traveling away from beaten roads, especially in the woods, you may profit by these helps. Following is an extract from the article:

"When passing through a wooded country for the first time, if you intend returning the same way or practically the same way, blaze the trees by snipping the bark at the height of your own head every few hundred yards. This will give you your direction when returning. Or, to prevent getting into the circle habit, break off branches of the bushes or low-hung limbs of the trees you pass. But if you do get lost keep cool, do not run around, but give signals of distress. Start a fire if your match case is with you, as it always should be whether you smoke or not. But if you have no matches take a dry handkerchief or cotton lining of your coat, scrape out a very fine lint, as much as you can.

"Get some fine dead fiber from the inner portion of bark or small dry twigs or grass. By using the crystal of your watch, compass or spectacles a lens can be made that will ignite the lint (if the sun is shining) that can be blown into a fire. Pile damp wood on your fire and a dense smoke will arise far above the tree tops and quickly attract attention. Two fires should be built, one removed a few yards from the other. This constitutes a well-known signal of distress among woodsmen. If it is in the night time select a high hill or ridge on which but little timber is growing so that the blaze from the two fires may be seen a long distance.

UNCLE SAM'S SKI REGIMENT

Thirtieth Infantry May Add That to Their Many Proud Service Distinctions.

The United States transport Buford crept into New York harbor the other day, carrying the whole Thirtieth regiment of infantry, officers, men, band, headquarters, machine gun and ski detachments. Mark the ski detachment. There isn't a corps in the service that can match the Thirtieth in this unique distinction. You'd have to go to Norway or some such country to find other troops that can maneuver on curved boards.

The Thirtieth for the last two years and some months and days—any officer can tell you the exact term of service, with groans of disgusted reminiscence—has been stationed in Alaska, where winter begins in October and lasts through June. If one wants to get around after the snow comes, snow shoes or skis are absolutely essential, and as it is too cold for close order drills, the army officers have taught their men to maneuver on skis, the exercise being good for them and the accomplishment of value in a country like Alaska.

Lieutenant Osterman, battalion adjutant, promoted this work at Nome, and it met with great success, he said. He was obliged to formulate his own drill, but eventually he had a company of skiers who could do all the customary formations and maneuvers in line and column.

Aside from its ski detachment, the Thirtieth boasts another distinction—it is the first regiment to be shipped from one coast to the other by way of the Panama canal. Other regiments have been sent down to the Canal Zone to serve in the garrison, but no other has made a complete trip through it and from coast to coast.

No Censor There.

An American who was attached to the embassy at Paris tells of a Parisian journalist who holds a strong objection to the notebook, dear to most of his associates.

This newspaper man wears large white cuffs, and on these he jots down such events as appeal to him, with suggestions for his subsequent articles. At first his laundress was much puzzled by these hieroglyphics, but as the time went on she became able to read them and apparently derived much benefit and pleasure therefrom.

One day the journalist received with his laundered garments a slip of paper on which was written:

"Your last washing was very interesting, but we should be glad to have you give us more war news."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

Veteran British Sailor.

Baron Fisher, first baron of Killybegs, who succeeded Prince Louis of Battenburg as first sea lord of the admiralty, held the same position for six years beginning with 1904. He began his navy career in 1854, and six years later had risen to the post of lieutenant. He is a veteran of the Crimean war, of the China and Egyptian wars, and commanded the indefatigable during the bombardment of Alexandria in 1882. During his long service he has held many high offices, and as a sea fighter he is relentless.

The End of Strikes.

One notable effect of the war in England is reflected in the labor world. Though employment is good, the worker has stopped striking. Thus in November only 5,061 workpeople were reported to the board of trade as being involved in labor disputes, as compared with a total of over 55,000 in November last year.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine illa it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. GOOD FARM BUTTER MAKING

Greater Attention Should Be Given to Details Concerning Factors Affecting the Quality.

(By J. KEITHLEY.)
The following few brief instructions will prove of great assistance to farm
butter makers:

Churn at a temperature that will give a firm, flaky granule in the butter. This temperature varies slightly with the season, but ranges from 62 degrees to 63 degrees F. The use of a thermometer and intelligent observation, as result of a few churning, will enable the butter maker to determine the proper temperature at which to churn. Churn should be stopped when butter granules are large as corn kernels or peas. Time required for churning should be 25 to 30 minutes.

Use clear, pure water for washing the butter. It should not be more than three degrees colder or warmer than the buttermilk. Use amount of water equal to that of the buttermilk.
In a barrel churn, reverse 12 to 15
times in washing.

Weigh the granular washed butter and salt at the rate of three-fourths ounce to one ounce per pound. Be sure the salt is well pulverized and sift it evenly over the granular butter before any of the moisture is worked out.

Work the butter sufficiently to distribute salt without injuring the grain or texture. Determine working by 1, appearance; 2, texture; 3, grittiness.

Butter, when sufficiently worked,
should present a firm, glossy appearance. The texture should resemble the broken end of a steel rod. There should be no grittiness due to the unevenly distributed or undissolved salt.

This can be determined by taking a small piece of butter between the teeth and hitting into it repeatedly; any grit-tiness will soon be observed. Insuffi-

Working the Butter.

cient working is generally shown by a mottled appearance in color on the cut surface. This is largely due to an uneven distribution of salt. This results in a salty condition and injures the keeping quality. The aim of butter makers should be to produce a high-grade article that is uniform week after week in flavor and composition. This can be done by careful methods in ripening, salting and working.

KEEP SALT HANDY FOR COWS

Maintains Health of Animals and Encourages Heavy Milk Flow by Promoting Digestion.

Experiments have proved the average milk cow requires about an ounce of salt per day. Heavy milkers should have more. Keeping salt where the dairy cows can reach it at all times maintains their good health and encourages a heavy milk yield by promoting thorough digestion and assimilation and having a cooling effect on the whole system of the animals, at the same time making it easier to bring butter of a superior flavor and color at churning time.

SOME GRAIN IS NECESSARY

Cow Will Get Through Winter in Excellent Condition If Given Few Ears of Corn Each Day.

The cow that is to become a mother should not be allowed to get poor and weak during the winter months.
It is practically impossible to get such a cow through the rigors of winter in good condition without a grain feed.
She may not need a great amount of grain, if she has plenty of forage that is nutritious, but she will need four or five ears of corn two or three times a day. Then she will get through the winter in fine shape and have good flesh and plenty of strength at calving time.

FEED FOR THE DRAFT FOALS

Youngster Makes One-Half His Mature
Weight First Year of His Life—
Ration From Wisconsin.

The feeding of draft foals is a very important matter. One only appreciates this when he realizes the fact that a draft foal makes one-half his mature weight the first year of his life. The foal must be fed, not starved, if he is to develop into a good draft horse. The foal fed an improper and unpalatable ration the first winter usually has a big middle and two very poorly developed ends.

Considerable attention has been given to feeding draft foals at the University of Wisconsin the last few years. At one year of age they have weighed from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds.
These foals were all accustomed to a small amount of grain before five months of age when they were weaned.
After weaning they were given the following ration until turned on grass at about thirteen months of age.

Ration for 100 pounds mixed feed:
65 pounds crushed oats, 15 pounds corn meal, 10 pounds bran, 15 pounds finely cut alfalfa or clover.

They were fed all of this mixture they would eat three times a day and were given no hay other than that in the mixture until they were about one year old. The amount of this mixture eaten per foal per day varied from 9 to 15 pounds (20 to 30 quarts)

Fine Type of Draft Stallion.

according to age. Much of the time the feed was dampened and thoroughly mixed before feeding. The advantages of the damp mixture seemed to be the variety of wholesome feed and the relish with which it was slowly and thoroughly chewed.

Where one cannot feed so varied a mixture as that described, a ration of 20 per cent bran, cut alfalfa or cut clover with 80 per cent crushed oats fed as described will prove very effective. Foals do not appear to be able to make as good use of whole oats and hay as an older horse. When fed these feeds separately and whole they eat less feed and have a greater tendency to "pot belly."

It is a practice of some successful
Wisconsin breeders to feed liberally bran and crushed oats for grain three times per day and hay and sorghum stalks each once per day for roughage.
Combinations such as marsh hay and corn should be avoided. Although corn silage can be fed to idle horses it should only be given in a very limited way or not at all to foals.

One cannot economize by limited feeding of the foal. What one saves in feed the first year he sacrifices from five to ten times in the final value of the animals. Only well bred draft foals are capable of making 1,000 pounds at one year and developing into a good draft horse. It generally does not pay to practice liberal feeding with mongrel or scrub animals for there is but little margin between the final value of the animal and the cost of feed consumed.

PICKED UP IN THE HOG LOT

Overcrowding is Anything but Economical Plan—Alfalfa Furnishes Excellent Grazing for Pigs.

Do not keep too many pigs together and compel them to sleep in one nest.

The most economical gains in pig feeding are obtained by a judicious blending of nitrogenous and carbo-naceous foods.

Crossing may improve the hogs for the feed lot alone, but not for the purpose of perpetuating their kind.

Every hog grower should make a great effort to have a few acres of alfalfa, because it furnishes unusually valuable grazing for hogs, and can be pastured off several times during the season.

There is nothing more disgusting than to have a lot of unruly hogs running at large about the farm buildings.
With modern woven wire fence, it is easy to confine them within their proper limits.

There is nothing gained by mixing corn meal with chopped alfalfa, except to insure larger consumption.

The longer any herd or family of hogs is subjected to a ration of corn or confined to small pens and dirt yards the lower will be their vitality and prolificacy.

LASH LAID ON WOMAN'S BACK

Aged Victim Tell's How Masked Men Dragged Family From Home.

WERE SCANTILY DRESSED.

Marauders Tortured Son, Says Witness In Trial At Bowling Green.

Bowling Green, Ky., April 14.—For nearly two hours Monday afternoon nearly 500 spectators, who crowded the Warren Circuit Court room, listened to a tale of atrocities administered by "possum hunters" in Butler county. Mrs. Kathrine Webster was the first and chief witness for the State, in the case of P. C. Jenkins, one of the alleged leaders. The woman told how she and her family were awakened after midnight by a band of masked men, who had broken into the house.

Commanded to rise, the husband, wife, daughter, son and his wife were led barefooted and scantily attired to the woods. Mrs. Webster, who is sixty-five years old, was tied to a tree and the lash applied to her naked body. Her cries were stifled by a gag. Louella Webster, the daughter, was next whipped, and each of the women choked with a rope about their necks. The son was then subjected to cruelties. Following a whipping he was strung up with a rope several times in an effort to extort a confession as to who had fired upon the "possum hunters" as they approached the house.

Mrs. Webster stated that they had not heard any shooting, although blood was found the next morning near their home. Louella Webster, to whom was administered the severest thrashing, still visibly shows the effects of the brutal treatment received at the hands of the "night riders."

During the testimony all witnesses named the defendant as the apparent leader and as the man who applied the lash. Rigid cross examination failed to break down the State's evidence. Jenkins is a farmer of South Hill, Butler county.

This morning the son and his wife were put upon the stand and substantiated the statements of the other witnesses. The son's wife and father, James Webster were not whipped, but were made to witness the chastisement of the family.

ROB NEWSPAPER MAN

E. A. Jonas Victim of Thieves, Who Stole Many Heirlooms.

Louisville, Ky.—Burglars discovered that rara avis, a newspaper man with money and jewelry, Thursday night, when they entered the boarding house of Mrs. David Boyle, 932 South First street, and robbed E. A. Jonas, associate editor of a morning paper, of $5 in cash and jewelry valued at $1,000. Entrance was made through a rear window.

Hilda Jonas, Mr. Jonas' daughter, was awakened at midnight by the barking of her pet dog, but thought the dog had been roused by her father's entrance. From Mr. Jonas' trousers pocket the money was taken. The jewelry consisted of stickpins, rings, a watch and brooches, mostly heirlooms and the property of Mrs. Jonas.

NEGROES IN UNITED STATES

Population In 1910 Was 9,827,763 or 10.7 Per Cent Of Total.

1,176,987 ARE IN GEORGIA.

Mississippi and Alabama 1,009,489 and 808,282 Respectively.

Washington, D. C., April 14.—The bulletin on negroes in the United States, soon to be issued by Director Sam L. Rogers of the bureau of the census, department of commerce, indicates that there has been among negroes an increasing tendency toward home ownership, a marked increase in the percentage of school attendance, a pronounced decrease in the percentage of illiteracy, a decrease in the mortality rate, and an increase in the proportion of church membership.

The negro population of the United States increased from 575,208 or 19.3 per cent of the total population, in 1790, to 9,827,763 or 10.5 per cent of the total in 1910.

The largest negro population in any state in 1910 was that of Georgia, 1,176,987; Mississippi was second, with 1,009,487 and Alabama third, with 808,282.

Of the 9,827,763 negroes in the United States in 1910, 7,777,077, or 17.1 per cent, were reported as of pure negro blood, the remaining 2,050,686, or 20.9 per cent, being classed as "mulattoes." For census purposes this term covers all persons of mixed white and negro blood, whatever the proportion. The figures indicate a continuous increase in the percentage of mulattoes during the past forty years.

There are forty-three cities each of which had more than 10,000 negro inhabitants in 1910. Ten of these cities lie outside of the Southern states.

The bulletin presents for the first time data regarding mortality among negroes. All previous publications have given statistics for the total colored population, which included the Chinese, Japanese, Indians, and other non-whites. The death rate in 1910 for the "registration area," which in that year contained 58.3 per cent of the total population of the United States, but only 19.7 per cent of the negro population, was 25.5 per cent per 1,000 population for the negroes and 14.6 per cent per 1,000 for the whites; a decrease of 3.9 per cent for the former and 2.5 per cent for the latter, as compared with 1900.

The average death rate among negroes in thirty-three Northern cities, each having a negro population of at least 2,500 in 1910, was 25.1 per cent per 1,000 as compared with 15.7 per cent for the whites, a decrease of 2.0 per cent for the negroes and 2.5 per cent for the whites. A similar comparison for twenty-four Southern cities shows a rate of 29.6 for negroes, a decrease of 4.0 per cent, and 16.9 per cent for whites, a decrease of 2.9 per cent, when compared with 1900.

Deaths caused by malaria, tuberculosis of the lungs, other forms of tuberculosis, pneumonia and whooping cough are relatively more numerous among negroes than among whites.

The latest statistics of religious bodies which have been collected by the bureau of the census relate to the year 1906. In that year there were 36,770 negro church organizations, with 3,685,097 communicants or members.
